

five to seven educator
5to7 Contents
 www.fivetoseven.co.uk

News and views 6-7

Opinion 8

Liz Rhodes discusses recent findings about childhood, friendship, leisure and freedom to make mistakes

Managing behaviour 10-11

How far should a teacher go in responding to individual differences in the way children approach learning?

Child as a witness 12-13

What's the best way to go about investigating who did what when things get murky in the classroom?

Special report 16-17

Has our focus on targets and standards undermined our appreciation of individuality? Patsy Mill examines this issue

Teachers as governors 18-19

Have you ever wondered what is involved in being a school governor? Carrie Dunn explains

Puppets 20-22

Have you ever thought about using puppets in the classroom? Sarah Cruickshank explains the benefits

Book reviews 23

Big books 24-25

Liz Rhodes looks at how the big book There was an Old Lady who Swallowed the Sea can be used in a year 1 class

Assembly 26

International Youth Day

FREE POSTER INSIDE

National Curriculum section

Literacy ii-viii
Sherlock Holmes
Making journeys
 Sarah Cruickshank looks at the author of Sherlock Holmes and making journeys

Science ix-xii
Going batty
 Paula Hammond's lesson allows children to learn more about bats

Maths xiii-xvi
Special numbers
 We all have numbers that are significant to us. Sarah Cruickshank's lesson uses that to help children with maths

History xvii-xx
School now and then
 Sarah Cruickshank considers how children can use information technology to help them record and display their work

History and PE xxi-xxiii
How PE was then in Victorian times, girls missed out on sports. Crispin Andrews talks about how things were and how things have changed

PE xxvii-xxxii
Swimming and movement every day
 More and more key stage 1 children are learning to swim